Dear Councillor Allen,

Thank you very much for your letter dated 2 November providing the response of the Police and Crime Panel to my proposed Police, Crime and Victims' Plan.

I am very grateful to the Panel for the helpful input and comments that you provided at your meeting on 28 October, and when I presented the consultation draft to your July meeting. I am pleased that the panel acknowledge the extent of the consultation which I have undertaken to produce the plan, and support its content. You are right to note that the consultation exercise was extensive, and I will continue to aim to ensure that the geographical range of responses should to be as inclusive as possible. I look forward to working with the Panel over the coming year, and am grateful for our continued constructive relationship.

In accordance with the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011, I propose to publish both your response and this letter on my website, and to publish the revised Police and Crime Plan and Summary of Consultation Responses on 7 November.

Yours Sincerely

Ron Hogg
Police, Crime and Victims' Commissioner
