Dear Inspector Stockdale,

This letter is to confirm that Seaham Town Council, shares the views of the Police with regards to the selling of alcohol over the Carnival weekend. Due to the nature of the event and that the Seaham Carnival is a family event, there is no need for alcohol sales to be carried out in front of premises on North Terrace and the surrounding areas.

Yours sincerely,

W Paul Fletcher
Deputy Town Clerk

Inspector R Stockdale
Seaham Police,
The Avenue,
Seaham,
County Durham.

Helen,

Following on from our telephone conversation, I would like to formally layout what a tables and chairs licence does and does not allow;

- Consent is for the placement of tables and chairs on an agreed area of the adopted highway, for the use of the clientele of the premises
- The premises is to carry PLI, to the minimum of £5 million, to indemnify the County Council against all liability for any loss of or damage to property or injury to persons any other expenses, loss, damage, costs, actions, suits, proceedings or claims in connection with the placement of tables and chairs upon the adopted highway.
- The licence does not allow the placement of anything other than tables and chairs.
- Consent does not confer any licence for the sale to or consumption by the clientele of the premises or by any other persons of intoxicating liquor (Permission for this must be sought from the proper sources)

The situation currently with Port of Call is that they have paid for their licence, signed a copy of the terms and condition, but have yet to supply us with a copy of their PLI. I have carried out a Land Registry search and the land outside of their premises is showing as having no known owner, as such DCC would have the final say as to whether an event, such as the one being requested, is allowed due to the fact the area of land is adopted highway.

The licensing authority received additional documentation from Inspector Rachel Stockdale, Durham Constabulary which referred to an email from Cllr Barry Taylor.

I telephoned Cllr Taylor to validate the email. He advised me that he was aware that Port of Call had applied for a licence to sell alcohol outside in the street on carnival weekend and he did not agree with this. I explained how his email would form part of licensing committee hearing and how his email would become a public document detailing his views. Cllr Taylor was happy for this to be used in the way.

Seaham Town Council is against any bars selling alcohol outside on carnival day. This is a family event and there's no need to sell alcohol on the street.
