Background

5. The Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA) enables local authorities to carry out certain types of surveillance activity provided that specified procedures are followed.
6. Directed surveillance is covert surveillance that is not intrusive and is carried out in relation to a specific investigation or operation in such a manner as is likely to result in the obtaining of private information about any person (other than by way of an immediate response to events or circumstances such that it is not reasonably practicable to seek authorisation under the 2000 Act).
7. The Local Authority is able to rely upon the information obtained from those surveillance activities within court proceedings.
8. This report gives details of RIPA applications that have been authorised during the quarter 1 and 2, with the outcomes following surveillance.

Quarter 1 Activity

- 9 During quarter 1 there was one RIPA directed surveillance application and one CHIS application presented to the Court.
- 10 The authorisation for directed surveillance and the operation for CHIS were granted in June 2021. Both relate to a single operation regarding illicit tobacco products within County Durham. As the operation is part of an ongoing investigation an update will be brought to a future meeting to update on the outcome.

Quarter 2 Activity

- 11 During quarter 2 there were no directed surveillance or CHIS applications presented to the Court.

Legal Implications

The Council's objective is to make lawful and appropriate use of surveillance techniques where required whilst complying with the provisions of the Human Rights Act 1998, in particular the provisions of Article 8 of the ECHR securing respect for an individual's (qualified) right to privacy. Quarterly oversight by the board helps secure this objective.

Oversight by the Board of the Council's RIPA operations is designed to facilitate compliance with the Human Rights Act.
